

Alice Springs Desert Park

Educational Programs – Cultural Walk

What is it we humans need to survive?

Be met by a Guide on arrival to begin your discovery. Be involved in interactive activities that share knowledge on belonging to and looking after the land, its plants and animals and each other. Walk from Desert Rivers to Sand Country learning about how to find water in the desert and different tracks and tools used by desert Aboriginal people.

In the Park's Nocturnal House learn about hunting and sign language before continuing the journey to the Nature Theatre to be enthralled by birds of prey and other predators of the desert. An Aboriginal Guide is not guaranteed, however the Desert Park will endeavour to meet the request.
